HONGKONG, NOVEMBER 21st. 1870. PROPLE in the East are licensed to grumble They have to put up with a species of small. annovance which is certain to command the sympathies of their neighbours, for the good reason that they are subjected to the like worries themselves. The weather is terribly hot, and who is not sure of finding a response to a hearty growl on this score? Then, Captain Shortt holated his broad pensant at " Never mind; he has got no numbers. Peter there are other pet subjects of complaint Life is monotonous; society divided; trade dull. In short the catalogue of grievances is almost without end, and they are generally aggregated in a declaration that the place in which each individual's careor is fixed, is. about the worst in the whole world. But notwithstanding the repeated expression of this opinion, numbers who, if they chose, could go home by the next mail steamer, continue in Ohina, and probably five years hence will find them still complaining, but staying on It may, therefore, be naturally asked; if things are so disagreeable why do they stay-and this very simple question: w.'l be found to throw an unexpected light upon the real nature of the disagreeables that are so much complained about. People stop in China, simply because they can do better here than at home; and, however much they may grumble at their lot, the fact that they do stay shows that in reality they know it to be not without considerable advantages. Numbers are able to get on much better in China than they could by any possibility hope to do at home; and everybody has at least some chance of ultimately reaping a fair reward for his labours, which can be said of geant Lineary, of the above distinguished corps very few indeed in their own countries. Men at home, as a rule, have to be content to make their way, in the words of the Church | gusting language towards her busband, vocifi-Catechism, in that sphere of life to which it rating and shouting at the top of her voice. has pleased Providence to call them. If they policionan Her bushand stated that she haare clerks in mercantile bouses or public bitually acted towards him with violence. offices, they cannot look forward to more than a head clerkship as the beight of their ambition; and such a position as that can not be attained except by years of careful and steady application. In Chius, everybody has a good chance either of rising to an independent position in the place, or of saving a sufficient sum to place him in such a position on his return home; and it is this fact offence of which be was found guilty . was which makes so many who grumble very severely at the drawbacks, which necessarily attach to life in the East, still quite willing to put up with them. The fact is, people habitually compare their condition out here, not with what they would be if they were at home; but with what they hope to be when they return—an idea which includes the possession of a moderate competency or of an independent position, had they possessed which, they would not have come out to China at all. Past disagreeables are easily Canton steamer, it must be admitted that he forgotten. All the little worries of every day occurrence at home are overlooked, and home is looked upon as an exemption from annoyances which must be put up with anywhere, and which do not attach more to China than to other places. There are many counterbalancing circumstances against the disagreeables of climate which have to be borne during the summer, and if people made it the rule to look at the would be estonished how many things, there office, as householders of No. 17, Bonbam are that compares favourably with the much wished-for residence at home. Certain things must of necessity be different in small out of the way places, and, instead of regretting the absence of what cannot be had, the most sensible plan is to put them out of one's mind as impossibilities, and take the opposite course. of endeavouring to discover what advantages. there are bere which residence at home would not afford. A man's bappiness any habit of making the best of things and looking at their bright, instead of their doleful side, will go a long way towards making life pass casily and pleasantly, under any but exceptionally trying circumstances. Anyone who will make the experiment of following MARK TAPLET'S plan of being jolly at

We grumble at the hot Weather, forgotting that in the cool season we have finer weather than in almost any other parts of the world; we complain that we are not getting on, when if we were at home, we should probably not be in receipt of more than it was necessary to spend; we grumble that the place is dull; when, it other parts, we might have neither time nor opportunity of much beyond business, and a very hundrenn and homely life after the alsogether to $375, together with a number of. daily toil was over. But perhaps I am too heaty, as the little may not have been all sent in for payment, and there may be some more to be debited in a future stateand the money which primare was charged ment. My reason for mentioning the matter is with stealing was gone. He also missed a that the general public appear to believe that the sum mentioned was the total wasted upon the

Mr. Hunbury protested against the measure on the grounds that the proposed letter made a charge against Chung now b being impliented in the murders, which was not warranted; first, on account of his being accredited ambassador with the consent of Count Roohechouart; and scoondly, because the French Charge d'Affaires had expressed his opinion that Chung How was not implicated. On the proposition, however, that the letter should be forwarded, being put to the meeting, it was front married by a large majority.

NANKIN.

The Nanking officials have at last succeeded in accounting for the assessmation of the Viceroy Ma. The murderer himself has per sistently refused to confess, despite the horrible torture. He has been made to kneel on bot chains, squeezed between boards till he was nearly shapeless, and otherwise racked so fur as it was possible without killing him outright. So his judges fell back on his family; and subjected his mother in law to similar inflictinns: She gare in t and told the following tale. The prisoner belongs to a band of pirates in the Chekeang province, and kept a small pawnshop to facilitate the disposal of stolen property. While Ma was Governor of Chekeang his comrades killed a mandarin. The prisoner gave up their names to Ma, under promise that selling. Wh ther or not this tale is true, or is invented under the pressure of necessity to account to the matter in some way, we have no meant of judging. At any rate, the absence of explanation was beginning to be awkward, as Tueng Kup Fun's sammprion of office was delayed pending the result of the enquiry. Now, the mutter is, we believe considered to be settled the murderer will be ersouted, and Teeng will come to Nanking.

ever did before. We would not now conquer by the mere terror created by our presence. Surely Dr. Macarency has not lived in vain at Socobow and Nankin, and the money spent under his orders has some further result than f had been spent on the manufacture of toys. To what extent the training of the Chinese to the manufacture of guns and gunpowder may have gone we'are comparatively ignorant, but I s certain that in so far as they have acquired these arts they would be more difficult for a handful of European soldiers to conquer. It need to be a favourite saying that an army of five thousand Europeana could march unchecked from Cunton to Peking. Enthusiants may have cometimes put it at five hundred; and careful men at ten thousand. And there is no doubt, that at any time in the history of our intercourse with Ohina up to the present time a very small army could overcome any opposition that could be brought against it; but we must not forget that this is so not only because the Ohiness remain comparatively ignorant of war, but because we have made such rapid progress in the invention of wonpone that we can afford to disregard all that the Obinese may have done in the meantime to bring themselves more nearly to our level. Now-a-days, when two powerful European nations declare war, the questions saked regarding their strength do not refer so much to the number of men they can bring into field as to number of shots a new rifle can fire in a minute, and the distance at which it can kill. The sinews of wur now are not the sinews of war of the older time. The side that can command the best mechanical skill, and men of the most inventive genius, is the side on which victory, is most likely to declare itself. If a metaphor is pardonable on the subject. Victory may be shid to have changed her partiality for physical strength, and wheel-

(Sep. 29, 1677) had 'distributed' the letters of some Litin words into tables, and 'entitled the pieco Artificial Versifying; whereby any one of Whose head is covered with the lonter om ordinary capacity, though he understands not one word of Latin, tuny he taught immediately to make becameter and peninmeter verses oven by your friends, well knowing how distrue Latin, true verse, and good sense!" Who gusting is the sight-use BRISTOL'S SARSA. or what John Poters was I do not know, mither have I met with any of his writings; but from PARITLA. the clue obtained. I, with a little trouble, succooled in arranging the following tubles, by which any one who memly knows the letters of On whose person the foul and vitiated humors the alphabet, and can recken as far as nine, have produced those fourful-looking alserous may make good and correct Latin hexameter sores, that are slowly but surely draining away and pentameter verses. This no doubt reveals the search of the machine previously alluded to, your life -use BRISTOL'S SABSAPARILLA. it being highly probable that these or similar tubles were used in its construction. I have neither ingenuity nor yet any argunintance Worse kness are onlarged and deformed- with with mechanical art, still I cannot belp surmi. Its fresh 59,049 different lines or verses, making in all 500.490 different lines that can be obtained from the two sets of tables. The writing of Virgit number not more than 13.016; lines so these tables could furnish forty five volumes, each as large as the complete works of Virgil, and 4771 lines over. I fancy I oun hear a the use of all this ? I can only reply. that the construction of these tables helped to wile mway from me some tedious hours of lassitude and ill health; perhaps in their present form they may afford a similar benefit to another.

LET US REASON TOGETHER!

Why are you sick? There must be a cause Nature never intended that we should pass, as many do, nearly one half of our lives in bodily pain. Thus it becomes evident that you have, in some way, broken Naturo's laws. Your Sickhe dache, your Nervous-headache, your Biliousbendache, Liver Complaint, Pain in the Side, and up under the Shoulder-blades-your Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Flatulency, and Heartburn-your Costiveness, Piles, Stokness at the Stomach-the Pimples, Roughness, and Blotches, on your face, neck; and arms-all these, and many other troubles and feelings of illness are simply evidences of the fact that you have broken the laws on which Nature bases the bodily ease, comfort, health and strength of the human family; and the chances are as a bundred to one, that unless your 1 Jatem gets prompt aid, your trouble will go on increasing and gradually cetting worse, until it is beyond human help. The point of great importance then, is to obtain the proper remedy-some thing that will care safely, and not by violent simply this :- Select any one of the first nine action or corroding influence jeopardize the (capital) letters in Tuble I, the letter chosen, bealth it is intended to restore. There is such medicins-perfectly rafe for the weakest and most delicate, yet powerful enough for the sequent minth letter in the same table strongest searching out every atom of diseased or deprayed matter, and expelling or neutralizing it-giving wonderful tone and strength to Pentameter, furnishing the last word of the the stomach, vigor to the liver, and regularity verse; natoriaks, where they occur, most be to the bowels; -need we say that this medicine

It is this won ferful combination of the use ful with the agreeable that has made MURRAY & LANNAN'S FLORIDA WATER SO widely the render exclaim, Cui bono ? - What celebrated and co bighly prized. In many warm climates, four to six bottles of it are mixed with the water of each buth, which invigorates, recoperates, and strongthens the system, that the enervating effects of climate ere thrown off.

It is not alone in the righness or delicacy of ts fragrance that MURRAY & LANMAN'S FLORIDA WATER equals, and even surpasses the most expensive of the French an I English perfumery, but also in its lasting power. The handkerohiet sprinkled with it, is perfumed for weeks, or until it is washed; and, unlike the FRENCH HEFOGRES AT SOUTHAMPTON .- A linglish and French extracts, time does not deteriorate its fragrance, but rather serves refine or spiritudize its exquisite aroma.
